TE 3.23 – GSE Electrical and Mechanical Work Orders

TE 3.24 – GSE Portable Air Conditioner Work Order

Government provides data on historical workload in this technical exhibit. This data is raw and represents actual communication among customers, maintenance planners, and artisans. The data is as it appears in the maintenance management system except for removal of personal information, inappropriate language, and acronyms expanded as practicable. Each set of data includes a ticket number, ticket date, and a problem description. The tickets approximate the work required during the base one-year period.

The work orders numbers in this technical exhibit may not match exactly the workload forecast in Section C-7. There are two reasons. First, customers occasionally submit more than one requirement for a single problem indicating the recorded workload over represents the work performed. Second, artisans perform a substantial fraction of their work on verbal orders or on their own initiative indicating the recorded workload under represents work performed. However, the net result approximates actual work required.

We audited by sampling the workload in each technical exhibit. We also sought subject matter expert advice on the amount of over- and under-reporting in each area. The result is our estimate of the amount of over- and under-reporting of each workload set. Thus, to get the forecast values in C-7 for the workload in this Technical Exhibit, we increased the number of tickets by 15.26 percent for night shift and 20 percent to adjust for under reported tickets.

TE 3.25 – GSE Tire and Wheel Work Orders

TE 3.26 – GSE Hydraulic Cart Work Orders

Government provides data on historical workload in this technical exhibit. This data is raw and represents actual communication among customers, maintenance planners, and artisans. The data is as it appears in the maintenance management system except for removal of personal information, inappropriate language, and acronyms expanded as practicable. Each set of data includes a ticket number, ticket date, and a problem description. The tickets approximate the work required during the base one-year period.

The work orders numbers in this technical exhibit may not match exactly the workload forecast in Section C-7. There are two reasons. First, customers occasionally submit more than one requirement for a single problem indicating the recorded workload over represents the work performed. Second, artisans perform a substantial fraction of their work on verbal orders or on their own initiative indicating the recorded workload under represents work performed. However, the net result approximates actual work required.

We audited by sampling the workload in each technical exhibit. We also sought subject matter expert advice on the amount of over- and under-reporting in each area. The result is our estimate of the amount of over- and under-reporting of each workload set. Thus, to get the forecast values in C-7 for the workload in this Technical Exhibit, we increased the number of tickets by 15.6 percent for night shift and an addition 20 percent to adjust for under reported tickets.

TE 3.26 – GSE Hydraulic Cart Work Orders

TE 3.27 – GSE Aircraft Starter Work Orders

Government provides data on historical workload in this technical exhibit. This data is raw and represents actual communication among customers, maintenance planners, and artisans. The data is as it appears in the maintenance management system except for removal of personal information, inappropriate language, and acronyms expanded as practicable. Each set of data includes a ticket number, ticket date, and a problem description. The tickets approximate the work required during the base one-year period.

The work orders numbers in this technical exhibit may not match exactly the workload forecast in Section C-7. There are two reasons. First, customers occasionally submit more than one requirement for a single problem indicating the recorded workload over represents the work performed. Second, artisans perform a substantial fraction of their work on verbal orders or on their own initiative indicating the recorded workload under represents work performed. However, the net result approximates actual work required.

We audited by sampling the workload in each technical exhibit. We also sought subject matter expert advice on the amount of over- and under-reporting in each area. The result is our estimate of the amount of over- and under-reporting of each workload set. Thus, to get the forecast values in C-7 for the workload in this Technical Exhibit, we increased the number of tickets by 15.6 percent for night shift and 20 percent to adjust for under reported tickets.
